Motion for a resolution

Amendment

21a. Stresses that in carrying out their duties, police and law enforcement forces should apply non-violent means before resorting to the use of force, and that all law enforcement operations should be planned so as to minimise the risk of excessive force or harm; highlights that the use of chokeholds and other forms of physical restraint that may result in positional asphyxia violate fundamental human rights, and calls therefore for prohibition of the use of such techniques in policing;

Paragraph 27 b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

27b. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to evaluate and address the disproportionate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on racial and ethnic groups which have already experienced intensified scapegoating, discrimination and hate speech, including by politicians, as well as the enforcement of racist policies, an increase in racist attacks, racial profiling and police brutality, more difficult access to education, increased financial insecurity, a loss of income, the closure or reduction of state support services, overcrowding and reduced access to clean water and sanitary conditions;
